Match Made Some Time Ago to Be Clinched for Publication To-day -P. A. Abell Says Brooklyn Is With A. G. Spaiding

Swimmer Schaefer in Trouble In accordance with the programme outlined several weeks ago, Robert Fitzsimmons has finally agreed to the terms named by James J. Jeffries and will accept the proposition to divide the fighters' share of the receipts on a 60 and 40 per cent. basis. Those who have had a line on the plans of these fighters from the time they first began to alk of another meeting were not at all sur prised yesterday when Fitszimmons an-neunced that he would sign articles at once, with the additional stipulation that the winner of the coming battle shall receive all of the eys accruing from the picture privileges moneys accruing from the picture privileges.
The Sun stated several days ago that a match between Jeff and Fitz had been agreed upon and that all of their newspaper sparring was for the purpose of securing free advertising for themselves. It was this exposure of their scheme that forced the pugilists to stop bickering and get down to business. When ign articles they will probably select a referee and may choose a battle ground, though Fitzsimmons declares that he is anxious to have the various clubs put in bids. But it can be said right here that both men have secretly agreed to fight before the Yosemite C. of California. This conclusion was arrived t when the match was clinched more than en to terms and fixed everything up then. But in order to create as much talk as pos-sible the fighters concluded to have a good wrangle over the site for the fight. There will be a talk probably regarding Fort Erie and New Orleans, but Jeffries and Fitzsim-mons know very well that a heavyweight championship battle would not be permitted n Francisco without interference. The men would like to have Charley White or George Siler act as referee, but as the Cali-

George Suer act as reierce, but as the California boxing crowd, will not stand for an Eastern official, it is probable that Harry Corbett will be selected to conduct the mill.

As an illustration of how well the fighters have understood each other all along, it sonly necessary to say that for the past six weeks Fitz has been training steadily, though lightly, down at Bensonhurst. The Cornishman, it is said, was assured some months ago that he could have another match with Jeffries on a 60 and 40 per cent. basis, and for that reason he began to get himself in shape to begin a course of severe training. Fitz accordingly began to induige in road runs and daily work with the bag, until to-day he can strip in pretty fair condition. Those who have seen him put on the gloves during the past few weeks say that he is as fast as ever and that it will not take a great deal of work to make him as fit as a fiddle. The fact, therefore, that Fitz has never let up in this prilindinary work is sufficient proof that he has been confident of a match all along. Just when the men will come together is a cuestion that neither is willing to answer new. Jeffries has a long list of theatrical eagsgements to meet, and Fitz says he will wait for him; also that he may go on the road himself. By signing articles, the men can bill themselves as matched to fight again for the world's championship, which is expected to be quite a card. They may fight in three, six, nine months or a year, and they may not fight at all. If they come together, though, Fitzsimmons says he will be in the best condition of his life.

Til admit that I am much older and many pounds lighter than Jeffries, said the Cornishman last night, but I've still got the punch and 1'll have an even chance of landing it. When we met before, I was beaten because I was doped, but that will not occur again. Fitzsimmon's "dope" story has been repeatedly told by him, but it has never carried much weight. The real reason for his defended to be fit the next time and believes that he can

The Brooklyn Baseball Club has been accused in some quarters of being on the verge of weakening in the National League faction fight. Though C. H. Ebbets, the salaried President of the club, and Edward Hanlon, the manager of the team, have been charged by some people with being in sympathy with the Freedman faction, there appears to be no real ground upon which to base such an idea. Ebbets and Hanlon really have no say as to the policy of the club, as they only hold a few shares of the stock. The real owners are Ferdinand A. Abell and H. R. Vanderhorst, and those gentlemen are with Spalding, no matter what the consequences may be. Mr. Abell came to town from Cape Cod yesterday to attend the annual meeting of the Brooklyn club. This was held at the offices of A. C. Wall in Jersey City, and the following officers were elected C. H. Ebbets, President; F. A. Abell, Vice-President and Treasurer; H. R. Vanderhorst, Secretary, and Edward Hanlon, manager. After the meeting Mr. Abell said:

Treguler: H. R. Vanderhorst, Secretary, and Edward Hanlon, manager. After the meeting Mr. Abell said:

"The Brooklyn club stands just where it did when the meeting of the League adjourned last December. We are first, last and all the time with A. G. Spalding in his fight to redeem the national game. I have not paid much attention to baseball affairs since the League meeting, because I was somewhat disgusted at that time, but I want to say that Spalding is in absolute control of the situation, and the Brooklyn club is perfectly satisfied with the way things are going along. If it becomes necessary for us to play in a club of two, four, six, eight, ten or twelve clubs we are ready to do so, but Spalding will be our leader. I do not know what the next move to be made by Spalding will be, but whatever it may be we will abide by it. There is no weakening on the part of Brooklyn, and I want to have that point distinctly understood. Hanlon did not go to the Buffalo conference because I wrote Ebbets to tell him to use his own judgment in the matter. I did not think that Hanlon needed any advice, but there was really no reason why Hanlon did not attend the meeting except that he was not able to go. It did not alter the attitude of the Brooklyn club one iota. There will be no compromise between the rival factions. There is no need of any. Spalding has outlined his policy and that is linal. It would be suicidal to break away from it. No, I cannot say what our plans are, for that would be going ahead of the heand wagon, but you can say that the Brooklun club will be playing ball at the old stand this year, and that we will have a good ball team." Mr. Abell leaves for Cape Cod this morning on an early train.

News from Chicago was received by The Six last night that E. C. Schaefer, the champion amnetur swimmer of America, is in a fair way to be severely disciplined by the A. A. U. Schaefer, it is said, agreed some time ago to visit the Windy City and meet the champion swimmers of California at the Coliseum. Rumor has it that he has demanded expenses and money far in advance of that allowed by the Central Asociation of the A. A. U. and has made the statement that unless his requests are granted he will swim at Boston instead. Manager Sterrett of the Coliseum has wired the A. A. U. officials in this city the facts in the case and it was freely predicted last night that Schaefer will probably he suspended until his case has been thoroughly investigated and passed upon. Schaefer is a graduate of the Inversity of Pennsylvania and holds many records. He has demonstrated his right to the title of champion and his action in holding up the Chicago people comes in the nature of a surprise. If the charges against him can be proved, Schaefer will be debarred from competing in any further amateur events.

A Harvard man of influence told THE SUN man yesterday that the existing troubles between Cambridge and New Haven were in a fair way to be settled amicably. He said that several leading graduates of both universities had taken held of the situation and had put a stop to the interchange of unpleasant charges. He also stated that in all probability, Harvard and Yale would enter into a new agreement of five years duration, the terms of which would be similar to the agreement just concluded. It is said, further, that the two universities will agree upon uniform eligibility rules, so that there can be no friction in the future.

GOLF.

Western Comment on Travis's Letter - Montelair's Links.

Walter J. Travis's opinion that the amateur championship should not go to the West this year, published in THE SUN on Feb. 4. meets with the indorsement of the rank and file of Eastern golfers, but it is not as cordially received in Chicago. One reply coutains the following:

tains the following:

Of the seven championships held under the auspices of the United States Golf Association, from 1895 to 1891 inclusive, three have been won by representatives of Chicago clubs, and two runners-up have been from this district. And the runner-up in the two national championships held before the United States Golf Association was organized was Charles B. Macdonald of the Chicago Golf Club. It is distinctively in poor taste for the present champion, who happens to hall from the East, to say that the championship should not be held West. Results speak for themselves and certainly a district which has furnished taient of such quality is entitled to more consideration than the holding of the annual championship here once in every four years.

The statistics quoted are somewhat mis-of such quality is entitled to more consideration than the holding of the annual championship here once in every four years.

The statistics quoted are somewhat misleading, for the honors won for the West in the amateur championships, from 1844 to 1901, inclusive, have been won by players who learned their game in Scotland, with the exceptions of the runners-up medals in 1898 and 1801, which were won respectively by W. B. Smith and W. E. Egan, both homebreds, but the first really learned his game at Yale. Bar C. B. Macdonald, H. J. Whigham and D. R. Forgan, all Scotland-taught golfers, and it will be found that not over a half dozen Chicago players have ever qualified in the amateur championships. What surprises the Eastern golfers is the narrow view the Chicago players take of the case. They are for Chicago first and golf second. "I want the amateur championship in the East this time," said a prominent player yesterday, "because it will be for the best interests of the game. I favor Nassau as the best available course in the East. Glenview, with one long hole of 546 yards and two iron shot holes, is crossed seven times by a fiver. This may make championship golf, but I doubt it. For one thing, how about the comfort of the 'gallery' At Onwentsia, with one crossing of a stream, the crowd following the final was thrown into the greatest possible confusion, and a worse state of affairs may be expected with seven crossings of a stream. Nassau will accommodate without congestion a regiment of players and an army of onlookers."

R. B. Wilson of St. Andrews, Scotland, he has been in turn at the Deal, Sgratoga.

R. B. Wilson of St. Andrews, Scotland, who has been in turn at the Deal, Saratoga, Merion and Shinnecock Hills links, has been engaged for the season by the Hartford Golf Club, which will hold the Connecticut League tourney this year the second week in July.

The Montclair Golf Club links, which has been selected by the New Jersey Golf Association for its championship tournament the first week in June, has a playing length of 6,056 yards, and while narrow on one or two holes, it is far better golf than most links of that length. Will Anderson, the open champion, bolds the record at 80. Three amateurs have made an 83: Paul Wilcox, Howard Giffen and E. A. Freeman, Jr.

An important meeting of the Cornell Athletic Council was held to-day. Dean H. S. White, President of the council, handed in his resignation. Dean White has accepted a professorship in German at Harvard and has resigned thus early in order to permit the selection of his successor. Prof. L. M. Dennis, faculty football adviser, has been acting President, but now Cornell's governing body over athletics is without a head. C. P. Brady, '04, was elected assistant football manager, Graduate Manager Senior submitted a partial financial report, covering items from Aug. 1, 1901, to Jan. 23, 1902. The total football receipts last fall were $19,931,53. The expenditures were $17,286.11, leaving a profit on the season of about $2,090. Last year Cornell made about $3,090 on the football season, but the expenditures for last fall were heavier.

Yale and Harvard will meet in a hockey game at the St. Nicholas Rink this evening.
This game will settle the championship of the Intercollegiate League and it is expected that it will be a hot contest. The Yale men they have played have shown in remarkable. well. Harvard has only played one game in this vicinity, but it is reported that the team is putting up a good game of hockey, so that the contest will in all probability be Pratt and St. Paul's hockey teams played last night at the Clermont avenue rink, and the St. Paul's team won by a score of 4 goals to 0. All the goals were scored by Bissell in the first half, and in the second Pratt's players all fell back on their goal, and try as they would the St. Paul's players could not get the puck into the net. This game was one of the Long Island interscholastic tournament, and it makes St. Paul's and the Poly. Prep teams tied for first place. The final game will be between these teams, and it will be played next Friday night at the Clermont avenue rink.

Stevens Institute and Heffiey School will meet at hockey at the Clermont avenue rink this evening. These teams are well matched and the game should be an interesting one. After the hockey match there will be skating races.

George Dixon Defeats "Chie" Tucker on Points.

Points.

Former featherweight champion George Dixon showed a flash of his old-time form at New Britain, Conn., on Thursday night in a 20-round bout with "Chie" Tucker of this city before the National A. C. The mill went the limit and Dixon got the verdict on points. Dixon was in the best shape he has been in some time. Tucker on the other hand was in poor form and was sick when he entered the ring. It is said that he went on simply to save his forfeit and not disappoint the crowd. Dixon did all the boxing and work. He outboxed Tucker 2 to 1 and knocked Tucker down twice, once in the second and once in the sixteenth round. The blows were hard ones, and only Tucker's gameness made him stay in the ring as long as he did. In the seventeenth round Dixon almost had his opponent out. In the eighteenth and nineteenth rounds Tucker recovered and Dixon had to do his best in defence.

roung Saxe of Boston Beats Eddle Quinn of Brooklyn.

Young Saxe of Boston added another victory to his credit by whipping Eddle Quinn of Brooklyn in a 15-round bout at the Opera House, Bellows Falls, Vt., on Thursday night. The battle was at catchweights, Saxe weighing 133-pounds, while Quinn tipped the beam at 125 pounds. For the first eight rounds the mill was even. Then Saxe piled up points, In the twelfth Quinn caught Saxe hard with the right and knocked him through the ropes with a right swing. Saxe knocked Quinn when they reached here were able to take steady gallops over the track before being put into quarters for the crist.

ROAD DRIVERS MEET. Executive Committee of R. D. A. in Favor of Matinee Meetings. At the Rossmore Hotel last night the Executive Committee of the Road Drivers' Association met to discuss matinée racing and other matters of moment. There were present Vice-President John F. Cockerill, David Lamar, M. L. Simon, Alexander Newberger, Nathan Ely, Dr. H. D. Gill, George A. Cole-man and Secretary Al Reeves. Vice-President Cockerill argued for the perpetuation of the Road Drivers' Associa-tion and was fellowed by M. L. Simon and David Lama: The latter made a strong informal speech along the line of matinee racing and brought out some strong points during his address. He went carefully over the ground and argued that matinee clubs would benefit the Road Drivers' Association. He was followed by George A. Coleman said that he believed the association should belong to the Amateur League, and

He was followed by George A. Coleman, who said that he believed the association should belong to the Amateur League, and laid stress on the matter of track ownership. If the matinée club be formed he believed New York would win many of the cups. Mr. Coleman argued for independent matinées aside from Speedway affairs. Mr. Lamar said the matter of track ownership amounted to but little and he knew our local tracks could be secured. The fact that Road Drivers' Associations could not join the Amateur League of Matinée Clubs as it to-day stands was developed in the discussion.

It was decided that the Road Drivers' Association as a body would be disrupted if it as a body amended its by-laws and became a racing association and to perpetuate the old association it was thought best to let the matinée movement develop, maintain the dignity and usefulness of the Road Drivers' Association and in every way possible affiliate with the newly organized club to be. It was deemed best to issue a circular letter reminding that the annual duos will be kept at the five-dollar limit and the fundamental principles of the old association be upheld: urging old members to put their shoulders to the wheel and endeavor to build up the Road Drivers' Association.

Secretary Reeves outlined the various henefits accruing from the Road Drivers' Association membership's concerted efforts and the funture surely looks very bright. At present there are some 40 members and all are in touch with amateur sports. The feeling was that the annual meeting would be a grand one and every owner or horse owner be invited to be present. The Secretary was directed to draft a letter to be freely direulated and that hereafter meetings of a social nature be held from time to time. The annual meeting will be held at the Rossmore Hotel on March 4.

During the evening Edward B. Rice, owner of Anaconda, 2015, was offered a match with Prince Albert, 2005, and Mart Demarest, who sat in the cafe, had $3,000 to deposit to bind a match for from $5.000 to $10,000 a side.

INTERCOLLEGIATE GYMNASTICS. A Triple Exhibition of High Quality Given

at N. Y. U. There was a triple gymnastic exhibition between teams from Yale, Princeton and the New York University in the gymnasium of the latter college at University Heights last night, and it had a peculiar smack of interest owing to the fact that the competitive feature was barred. The nervousness attending competition was absent and the men extended was more replete with interest, especially to victors and vanquished. There was nothing to lament. No decisions were made and the managers of the affair congratulated themselves upon having made a success of their first attempt. The "gym" was crowded with spectators and every event was of interest. On the horizontal bar, the Princeton team, W. J. Coulter and Capt H. Moore, were the most agile and versatile, but the work of G. W. Albin in slow posturing, drew the greatest applause. The club swinging of J. K. Savage of Princeton was intricate and fine, but lacked somewhat in speed, while Brayden of the N. Y. U., was fast, and clever as well. victors and vanquished. There was nothing Messrs. William F. Brush, Theodore H. Coleman, Syracuse; H. N. Bain, Poughkeepsie, and others have formed the Hudson Mohawk Valley Trotting Circuit, one of the strongest ever organized and certain to be productive of good, live, fast racing all season. Parkway Driving Park is in the circuit thus formed and to it are allotted the opening thus formed and to it are allotted the opening dates. June 3-6; Newburgh follows, June 10-13; Syracuse, June 17-20; Geneva, June 24-27; Binghamton, July 1-4; Utica, July 8-11; Syracuse, a second time, July 15-18; Hudson, July 22-25; Albany, July 29-Aug. 1; Ponghkeepsie, Aug. 5-8; Elmira, Aug. 12-15; Goshen, Aug. 19-22; Newburgh, a second meeting, Aug. 19-30; hingston, Sept. 1-4; Parkway, ending the season, Sept. 9-12.

Properly managed this is bound to be one of the strongest circuits for local horsemen and as many are half-mile tracks, will secure entries from turfmen who at present receive little opportunity to race their horses save at the larger meetings or by shipping into New England. The purses will be uniform with extra inducements in the 2:10 and free for all classes and to track owners to break records everywhere.

Secretary McCully has, in behalf of the New York Trotting Association, purchased ouright the Glens Falls Grand Circuit franchise. Glens Falls may later join the Hudson and Mohawk Valley Trotting Circuit.

ITHACA, Feb. 14.—Cornell was too much for Columbia in the fencing contest which was held in Barnes Hall this evening, and the Ithaca trio won out handily, winning seven out of nine bouts. To night was the first time that representatives of the two universities had met in a centest of the foils, consequently a good deal of interest was manifested in the bouts, Barnes Hall being crowded to its entire capacity when the programme began. Columbia put up a strong gramme began. Columbia put up a strong fight in all of the bouts, and, despite the fact that Cornell won decisively, the contest was interesting and closely lought. For Cornell, Capt. Blount was the chief actor. He won all of his bouts, although Garin gave him a hard fight in the third round. The most interesting bout of the evening was that between Frick of Cornell and Lawrence of Columbia in the third round. So could were the points scored by each that it was declared to be a tie, but in the second trial Frick won out.

Tommy Ryan of Syracuse seemingly intends to keep himself busy, for he has arranged to meet Tommy Murphy of Australia Tuxedo A. C. on Feb. 25. Murphy is a brother to Australian Jimmy Murphy. He has had several trials in this country and in each has done well. This is the fourth match that Ryan has made within the last two weeks.

GRIFFIN'S COLT SHOWS SMART FORM AT NEW ORLEANS.

Banish Victorious After a Long Rest - Zack Phelos. Cleverly Handled, Wins a Odds of 40 to 1 -- Interesting Races in Fine Weather on a Fast Track.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.-Tommy Griffin showed a good youngster this afternoon in The Don, a bay colt by Lissak—Cerita. It was The Don's first start and he marked the occasion by winning in a drive from May Allen and Royal Deceiver. May Allen had all the speed of her party and led the field by two lengths at one stage of the contest. She tired at the end and was backing up when The Don came with a rush from fourth place. The Don is a well-made colt that looks as if he might train on and carry stake weight. J. D. Crimmins Jr.'s filly Julia Leslen was a heavily backed favorite for the race. Julia had no speed and never figured prominently in the race. Perfect weather attracted an immense crowd to the track, and as the going was very fast the racing proved highly interesting.

The Four Hundred was lucky to win the first

BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS. BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS.

2.00 to 3.00 Saved on Men's Trousers.

BROOKLYN.

At 5.00 a Pair, Made to Measure, Real 7.50 and 8.00 Kinds.

This is really one of the best offers for men our Clothing Store has given. And you know what it has done this Winter. A pair of Trousers made to measure, and that in the best manner, at less than the price of ready made; in fact, less than the cost of the material and making.

A lot of fine cloths that we bought at a bargain. In the ordinary way of tailoring we would have to ask you 7.00 and 8.00 to make the same Trousers. There's cloth enough in the different styles to make Trousers for a thousand men-heavy and medium weight worsteds, just right for present and Spring wear-the patterns and colorings are all new and most fashionable; black cord, too; something for men of all ages and tastes. The tailoring will be the very highest quality-but you know what it is. Made to your measure at 5.00 a pair, and more than one pair of Trousers is not amiss.
